++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry with some sunny spells. Hot early next week.

Today:
Often cloudy during the morning, but skies gradually brightening. Spells of sunshine are likely during the afternoon, more so in the east, where a few showers may also develop. Feeling warm to very warm. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Tonight:
Widespread low-lying cloud in the west may produce drizzle and cause foggy conditions down to relatively modest elevations. Low-level fog patches may form further east, but skies will be clearer. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Monday:
Low cloud and drizzle will clear through Monday morning to leave a sunny and dry afternoon. Feeling very warm or locally hot, with light winds. Maximum temperature 26 deg C (79 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Early fog patches quickly clearing to hot sunshine on Tuesday, but windy later. Cloudier with scattered showers and a risk of thunder on Wednesday. Variable cloud and showers on Thursday.
